

THE 1920 CENSUS

COMPLAINTS OF PEOPLE WHO HAVE BEEN OVERLOOKED BY ENUMERATORS

For several years everybody has looked forward to the importance of the 1920 census. New towns were credited with from 20 to 50 per cent of the present population in the last census. It would seem to an on-looker that there is not sufficient care being taken to get a full count of the Glendale population. If reports are true the enumerators close their work tomorrow, Friday, January 16, and from many sources we hear of homes not yet visited. It may be that those not already enumerated will be called upon before midnight tomorrow, but the chances are they will not be. W. A. George of 400 West Stocker called the Evening News by phone last evening and informed us the census man had not called at his home. A. N. Melin of 118 North Maryland asked a representative of the Evening News this forenoon if the census taker was in town, as he had not heard anything of an enumerator being at his place. C. F. Parker of Central Avenue rushed into our office the other day and said so far as he could learn there had been no one enumerating the population on Central Avenue in his section. Prof. W. D. Root of the Glendale Union High School reported that the enumerator who had called at his home in his absence had not gained sufficient information and wondered where he could be found that he might be given further particulars.

From every source complaints are reaching us that bonafide residents of Glendale are being left out of this census. Everybody seems to be at sea as to whom to apply to have omitted names enrolled. May we have information from some source? Glendale should have credit for its entire population in the 1920 census.

WELFARE COUNCIL MEETING

The executive committee of the Glendale Welfare Council met Monday evening at the City Hall. Officers of the council were present as follows: Mrs. E. D. Yard, president; C. E. Kimlin, vice president; Mrs. E. L. Young, secretary; Mrs. R. A. Blackburn, treasurer.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's report showed receipts during the six weeks of organization as follows: From memberships, donations, and Red Cross shop $142.15, expenditures for the same period, $17.80, leaving a balance January 1 of $124.35.

Bills to the amount of $14.10 were approved and ordered paid. These were for materials for relief work. Mrs. Blackburn made a supplementary report of the City Welfare Bureau which showed that sixteen organizations are now affiliated with the council; that nineteen baskets were given out at Thanksgiving time and thirty at Christmas; that seventeen families of approximately thirty people had been furnished clothing up to the first of January.

The matter of establishing a free clinic was discussed but no action was taken by the meeting.

A plan to give shut-ins free auto rides was also considered.

Council officers expressed great satisfaction over the showing made by the organization during the few weeks it has been organized.

COLORADO GUESTS

DEAN STANLEY, BIG MELON GROWER, LOOKING FOR ACREAGE IN CAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Stanley and little daughter, Una Jane, are guests in the home of L. W. Babcock of North Isabel Street. The Stanleys are from Rocky Ford, Colo., where Mr. Stanley is one of the big growers of cantaloupes, having about one thousand acres which he crops in Colorado, and more acreage in New Mexico. He is now seeking to make arrangements for acreage in California. If he is successful it will mean that he will be able to make his headquarters for a part of the time in Glendale, with which he has fallen in love, and in that event he will buy property here. Whether his acreage will be in the Imperial Valley, in the San Joaquin or elsewhere, he has not yet determined. He formerly published "The Rocky Ford Tribune," which is now published by his brother, but he is still interested in the newspaper game and therefore naturally dropped into the office of the Evening News this morning, where he was a welcome visitor.

TREE VARIETIES

SUGGESTIONS BY J. C. SHERER IN CONNECTION WITH STREET PLANTINGS

Editor Evening News:

Tree Planting Day approaches and it seems appropriate that the subject be brought to the attention of our people and the importance of the matter impressed upon them.

It is an undoubted fact that the property owner generally does not properly appreciate the value of ornamental trees and shrubbery. There is a general feeling among home-builders that they must start fruit trees at once, and this the man of the house generally sees to. Perhaps he is persuaded by his wife to invest in a few shade trees, and does so to keep peace in the family, looking upon the investment as being in the nature of so much chargeable to luxuries. But as years pass, if he is a wise man, he notices that the fruit trees have been mostly a disappointment and have disappeared to feed the hungry man of the family stove, while the well-cared for ornamental trees still stand and add yearly to the tangible market value of the property.

Imagination is necessary to the successful selection and planting of a tree that is expected to survive for many years. The character of the species must be considered, particularly as to its spread of limb and density of foliage. The former should determine the space to be allowed for its growth, and the latter its usefulness or desirability as a shade producer. Another thing to be considered also is the fact, very generally overlooked, that a tree in its early years usually has a denser growth of foliage than when it has attained a greater age. For this reason the first ten years of many a

FAMILY REUNION

ANEY AND CARNEY FAMILIES ENTERTAIN RELATIVES FROM IOWA

Mrs. I. T. Aney of 315 Fairview Avenue and Dan and David Carney of this city are greatly enjoying quite a family reunion brought about by the arrival of relatives from the East. Two brothers of Mrs. Emma Easton (mother of Mrs. Aney), one, Albert Carney, who came with his wife from Waterloo, Ia., after looking around has decided to locate permanently in Long Beach, and is leaving for that city tomorrow. His brother, Dr. Andrew Carney, who is from Asbury Park, N. J., had not been seen by his Glendale relatives for twenty years, and his visit was therefore the more welcome. He plans to spend the winter in Glendale. A cousin, Frank Winter, his wife and daughter, are here from Laporte, Iowa, in the expectation of spending a year in Glendale or Long Beach. Mr. Winter is a farmer, who has leased his farm for a year and is therefore free to enjoy himself. If he likes the country as much as he now thinks he does, he will return and dispose of his Iowa interests at the end of the year and come again to California to stay. He and his wife are looking for an apartment. They have an automobile and are greatly enjoying the sight-seeing they are having. Mrs. Easton considers herself fortunate in having six brothers. A third visitor brother has announced that he is coming in June and when he gets here five of the brothers will be united in Southern California. The sixth brother is talking of coming later in the year, and Mrs. Easton's only sister has written that she will visit her soon.

SOCIAL DOINGS OF EVANS FAMILY

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Evans entertained a few nights ago with a turkey dinner for a group of friends who are spending the winter in Glendale, viz., Dan Lesh of North Yakima, Wash., his son, Daniel Lesh, Jr., his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moren and little Peggie Moren. They are occupying the old Preston place on Adams Street and will be here until April or May. He is a capitalist of Yakima. Mr. Moren and Mr. Evans were school mates in Kentucky.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Evans were dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Tower on Adams Street. It was a double celebration of the birthdays of Mr. Evans and Mrs. Tower, which occur in December, and those of Mr. Tower and Mrs. Evans, which fall on the first of January.

HUNGARIAN PEACE TREATY

HANDED TO DELEGATION BY PREMIER CLEMENCEAU THIS AFTERNOON

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, Jan. 15.—The Hungarian peace treaty was handed to the Hungarian delegation by the peace conference at 4:10 o'clock this afternoon.

Premier Clemenceau as head of the peace conference urged the Hungarians to sign immediately. Count Allonyi, head of the Hungarian delegation, refused saying that more time for discussion was necessary. Clemenceau then agreed that the Hungarians should appear before the Supreme Council at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow to present their claims. American Ambassador Wallace and Baron Matsui, the Japanese representative were present at the ceremony.

Just previous to handing the Hungarians their treaty, Premiers Lloyd George, Nitti and Clemenceau conferred secretly on the extradition of the former Kaiser.

AFFAIRS IN SIBERIA

REPORTED CLASH BETWEEN AMERICAN AND JAPANESE TROOPS ASSISTED BY AMERICAN FLEET

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, Jan. 15.—A dispatch from Harbin received today in a veiled way intimated that there has been a clash between Japanese and Americans in Siberia. At the same time a Bolshevik wireless dispatch from Moscow said that a movement had been organized in Siberia by social revolutionists in conjunction with Czech forces. The dispatch said the movement was assisted by an American fleet which left the Philippine Islands for Vladivostok to prevent the Japanese from landing fresh troops to assist General Semionoff.

It is believed that this movement relates to the reported effort to establish an independent Siberian republic between Obi and Vladivostok. Details are eagerly awaited here.

MURDER IN SECOND DEGREE

JURY IN HARRY S. NEW TRIAL RETURNS VERDICT AT 11:40 O'CLOCK THIS MORNING

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—At 11:40 o'clock this forenoon the jury which has been considering the evidence in the Harry S. New case, turned in a verdict of murder in the second degree.

Lecompte Davis, chief counsel for the defense, early this morning lost hope of any verdict being reached.

TREATY RATIFICATION URGED

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSIONER COLVER PRESCRIBES IT AS REMEDY FOR UNSETTLED CONDITIONS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—William B. Colver, member of the Federal Trade Commission, addressing the National Wholesale Dry Goods Association, today urged ratification of the peace treaty as a remedy for unsettled business and commercial conditions.

SENATE CAUCUS DEADLOCKED

UNDERWOOD AND HITCHCOCK DIVIDE THE 42 VOTES CAST FOR FLOOR LEADER

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The Democratic caucus deadlocked today over the selection of a new floor leader in the Senate to succeed the late Senator Martin. Forty-three senators attended the caucus. One refused to vote. Hitchcock and Underwood each received 21 of the 42 votes cast. Shortly after noon the caucus adjourned to meet again at the call of the two contestants. In the meantime Hitchcock and Underwood will try to break the deadlock.

CHAIRMAN HAYS NONCOMMITTAL

REFUSES TO COMMENT ON THE LAUNCHING OF "HOOVER FOR PRESIDENT" BOOM IN NEW YORK

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

RENO, Nev., Jan. 15.—Chairman Hays of the National Republican Committee refused to comment today on the launching of a "Hoover for President" boom in New York last night.

"I have to remain neutral," Hays said. He is here conferring with Nevada Republicans, and will return to San Francisco and then go to Southern California.

RIOTING RENEWED IN BERLIN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, Jan. 15.—Berlin dispatches today said that rioting was renewed in Berlin yesterday and that troops which had been attempting to maintain order had been reinforced. No details were given.

TRAGEDY OF THE ROAD

UNKNOWN MEXICAN WHO BEGS RIDE ON PASSING TRUCK MEETS DEATH ON SAN FERNANDO ROAD

A tragedy in which the victim was an unknown drifter, one of those chips on the stream of life of whom the public takes small account, was staged on San Fernando Road Tuesday, and the coroner's inquest which followed as a necessary legal formality was held Wednesday afternoon at the undertaking parlors of the L. G. Scovern Company.

The brief tale presented for the consideration of the jurors showed that one E. B. Chambers of Pomona, was on his way to one of the more northern cities with a truck and trailer, owned by F. M. Hodges. Two men, Mexicans, who, it developed afterwards, did not know each other, begged a ride and were good naturedly permitted to accompany Chambers as passengers. He expected them to leave the truck at Los Angeles, but they remained. When near the pumping plant on San Fernando Road some one yelled to him to stop and turning he saw that one of the men had dropped off and the trailer had run over him. It appeared from the testimony of the other passenger that his fellow had lost his hat and instinctively dropped off to recover it and was then caught and instantly killed by the trailer.

The body was taken to the Scovern parlors, as stated where Jesus Preto, of El Paso, the survivor of the two passengers, testified that he knew nothing about the other. The two men had simply come together in the fellowship of the road. The dead man was about 33 years of age and the coroner's jury found no means of identifying him. The inquiry will, however, be continued by Mr. Scovern. The meagre facts are that he got aboard the truck at Pomona, that he rode as far as Glendale, and that he is dead.

BRIDE COMPLIMENTED

DOROTHY LEE WELLER GUEST OF HONOR AT MEETING OF CHAPTER L. OF THE P. E. O.

Members of Chapter L. of the P. E. O. enjoyed an unusual treat Wednesday afternoon in a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Charles Farnham at 316 North Louise Street. The morning session over which Mrs. H. E. Bartlett presided as usual, was given to business.

At the luncheon, which was served at one o'clock, Mrs. Dorothy Lee Weller, was the guest of honor, her wedding having taken place since the last meeting. The appropriate floral decorations, which carried out a green and white color scheme, included orange blossoms, and Mrs. Weller received from the hands of Mrs. Bartlett, with a nice little speech of congratulation, the silver spoons which the chapter always bestows upon its brides.

By a singular coincidence it chanced that the program for the day was to be given by Mrs. Weller, who made it a review of the music of the early period in American history. Attired in an old-fashioned gown and bonnet she made a sweet picture. Her program included an entertaining talk on the music of the period she represented, illustrated by gramophone records.

About twenty-five were present. Mrs. Case of Chapter A. B. and Mrs. Feinstein, daughter of Mrs. Hunt, were guests.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Jessie Russell, Miss Ruth Byram and Mrs. Robert Blackburn.

CITED FOR BRAVERY

Harry MacBain, president of the Shaver Grocery Company, is in receipt of a Boston newspaper containing some information of interest to Glendale people, especially Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goldsmith of this city. It concerns their son, Lieut. F. O. Goldsmith of the U. S. Navy, who has been cited for bravery by Secretary Daniels and who is one of seven officers who were awarded the distinguished service medal for their work in the mine-sweeping division in the North Sea, a most hazardous and exacting service. Lieut. Goldsmith has been in the navy for a number of years and is now a commander. This list was not one of those acted upon by the Board of Awards but was bestowed direct by the Secretary of the Navy.

WEATHER FORECAST: Fair. Heavy frost probable tonight.

MASS MEETING

CITIZENS SHOULD NOT NEGLECT IMPORTANT QUESTION TO BE CONSIDERED

The attendance at mass meetings in Glendale in the past few weeks has been so small that it has been almost a misnomer to designate them as mass meetings. This has been especially true with two mass meetings that have been held to consider the question of securing more land and additional buildings for the Glendale Union High School. The first meeting which was held about six weeks ago was attended by probably 125 people. The second meeting, which was held about two weeks ago, was attended by 150 or 200. Now there has been another mass meeting announced for Friday evening of this week to reconsider the same question that was discussed at the former meetings.

This meeting should be attended by 500 people, in fact, the auditorium should be crowded to the utmost. The question to be considered, providing more room for the boys and girls of our High School is an important one and can not be passed by lightly. There have been all kinds of propositions presented for consideration from favoring a bond issue of $425,000 down to one of $200,000. It is important that every citizen become interested in this necessary improvement. A notice will be found elsewhere in this issue signed by the chairman of the committee appointed at a previous meeting to prepare a report to be presented to a future mass meeting.

Do not let anything but serious illness interfere with your being present at the High School auditorium tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

ENTERTAINS FOR GUESTS

Mrs. P. O. Lucas of Riverdale Drive entertained with a pleasant afternoon function Wednesday in honor of her house guest, Mrs. H. W. Lucas of Tennessee, Mrs. C. E. Ball of Kentucky, who is spending the winter in Long Beach, and her sister, Mrs. J. A. Creech. Other guests were Mesdames Chase, Packer, Rogers, Gilbert, Farlander, Patterson, Lyons, Russell and Frazier, and Miss Scott. The Lucas home was beautifully decorated with carnations and sweet peas. It was an entirely informal social afternoon with refreshments daintily served at the close.

CHURCH MEETING

CONGREGATIONALISTS HEAR REPORTS FOR THE YEAR AND PLANS FOR THE FUTURE

Wednesday evening at the Glendale Congregational Church was held the annual meeting at which the reports of the year were received and plans for the future were touched upon. It took the form of a big, friendly family dinner at which father, mother and children were present, and at which there was no formality, although the tables which filled the auditorium and Sunday school rooms were beautifully decorated with flowers and most attractive. Members of the Women's Auxiliary under the chairmanship of Mrs. King, who consented to accept the presidency for four months, prepared a delicious dinner over which guests were inclined to linger. Besides this refreshment, sugared pop corn and home-made candy were sold by the young ladies of Mrs. Potter's class, the proceeds to be applied on their pledges toward the proposed new church.

Minutes of three previous meetings were read by the church clerk, Mrs. H. W. Yarrick, and duly approved.

The report on church membership made by Mrs. Colson showed nine received by confession or faith and 15 by letter, and the pastor explained how the church had lost some valued members by the movement of the population. Some going to other cities, some to distant parts of Glendale.

The report of the treasurer, Mrs. Chappell, showed that all the obligations of the church had been met, leaving a small balance in the treasury, the amount expended for benevolences being about $525. The auditor reported his approval of the treasurer's accounts and the report was accepted with satisfaction.

The report of Mr. Frazee, chairman of the finance committee, was one of the most important of the evening and showed a wonderful team work on the part of the members, there being no delinquencies in pay-

AVOID UNNECESSARY EXTRAVAGANCE

In these times of high prices it would be well to avoid unnecessary expenditure of money. There are many necessities of life that must be purchased but when it comes to paying high prices for articles of merchandise and food that may as well be dispensed with it is folly to spend the money. There has never been a time in the history of the country that times have been better than at present. All business is being conducted on a high tension. It is apparently a race between producers and laborers as to which can demand the highest price for their output.

While everybody hopes that the good times will continue and that money will be plentiful, yet it is well to make a practice of saving money whenever we can and be prepared to meet the reaction if it comes.

HOOVER'S GOOD LUCK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Democratic leaders today expressed astonishment at the statement of Julius Barnes in New York last night when he launched the "Hoover for President" boom, saying that Hoover is a Progressive Republican.

Evidently many democrats have been considering him as a Democratic presidential possibility. Champ Clark commented that Hoover is singularly fortunate to have the choice of being a candidate for either party.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

ADVERTISEMENTS

A FAMOUS HEALER HERE

F. L. Rawson, M. I. E. E., A. M. L. C. E., formerly a leading British Engineer, will speak at Masonic Temple on the evening of January 21st, at 8 o'clock. He built the first electric railroad in England and was the designer of the first gas driven motor car, the consulting engineer for the first airship. He became interested in Mental Healing by being detailed by the London Daily Express to investigate Christian Science and write a series of articles thereon. He has since developed a simple method of Divine Healing founded on true prayer and the laws of right thinking. Last week in Los Angeles many could not obtain entrance to Coral Hall where he has been lecturing and conducting healing classes. He was the founder of the Society in London for spreading the knowledge of true prayer. The aim of the society is how to demonstrate the works of the Lord in everyday life, so that all sin, disease, troubles and limitations can be overcome in ourselves and others as He foretold. To bring about national concord and brotherly love everywhere.

The Program Committee of the Tuesday Afternoon Club hereby expresses thanks to Salmacia Bros. of the Glendale Phonograph & Piano Co. for the free use of one grand piano in October, a phonograph in December and a Knabe grand piano on January 13th. Mrs. W. E. Evans, Chairman.

"THE CAMPFIRE"

Over-night Hike

So many Scouts of other troops have signified their desire to join Mr. Kellogg's party to Camp Letts, that he has decided to make the affair a Council hike, open to all Scouts of Glendale. So come one and all! "The more the merrier." Pack your haversack with grub for three or five meals, depending on the time of your return home, and bring good warm blankets. The gang is to meet on the corner of Brand and Broadway at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon (Friday). We will take the 3:53 car for Burbank and from there hike across to camp.

We are going to have the time of our young lives, so don't miss it, Scouts! And we are also going to get something accomplished in Scouting. Let's make it a record, fellows, for tests passed. Every Scout passes at least one test before returning home. What do you say, Scouts?

Tests

This week shows a pretty fair record for tests, but we must beat it this next week.

Troop No. Three—Lynn Criswell passed his Flag test.

Troop No. Four—Arthur Barton passed Service and Compass for second class.

Archie Neel passed Compass and Thrift for second class.

Sherman Quick passed Thrift for first class.

Arthur Wetton passed part of Knife and Axe test for second class.

Wiefred Jackson passed 14-mile hike for first class.

Burton Kuntzner passed Signaling, Map, Handicraft, judging, training.

Francis Reed passed Signaling for second class.

Leslie Hatch passed Signaling for second class.

Troop Two leads the list with eight tests passed, and Troop Four is a close second with six. Troop Three is just barely in the running with only one, while Troop One and Five have nothing to show for the week. Burton Kuntzner is the star of the week with five tests passed, thus putting his troop in the lead for the week. Good for Burt! He saved Troop Two's reputation.

With so many Scouts going to camp this week, there ought to be a far better report next Thursday. Come on, Scouts! Let's go!

Troops 3 and 1 Are Fortunate

While Troop One is very unfortunate in losing its present Scoutmaster, Mr. Loomis, it is extremely fortunate in obtaining the services of Dr. Cleaves who, although an extremely busy man, has very kindly consented to serve as Scoutmaster in the place of Mr. Loomis.

Troop Three, which has been struggling along under Mr. Kellogg, is to be highly congratulated in obtaining for Scoutmaster, Mr. Loomis, who has been connected with Troop One. He is full of pep, loves the boys and knows his business. We are looking for bigger things from Troop Three now.

The reason for this change is that Mr. Loomis lives in North Glendale, very near to Troop Three's headquarters, while Dr. Cleaves lives in Troop One's, only a short distance from Troop One's location.

Scout Camping Trip

A number of boys from Troop Two, headed by Benjamin Robison, their Senior Patrol leader, spent the week end at Camp Arthur Letts, in the Hollywood mountains. The boys left Glendale at four o'clock Friday afternoon, and arrived at camp just in time for supper.

Saturday was spent hiking, swimming and taking Scout tests, and was a most enjoyable day to all. An especially interesting feature of the camp is the camp fire every evening, where the boys sing, tell stories, and have a good time in general. At the camp fire Saturday evening Mr. Rowe, a returned soldier, related his experiences "over there," telling of the St. Mihiel battle in a most inspiring way.

The Glendale boys distinguished themselves by being given honorable mention as having the cleanest tent at inspection both days. Benjamin Robison of Troop was also appointed "officer of the day."

About ten o'clock Sunday morning the boys, after a most enjoyable experience, left for home, remarking that out of all their many camping trips, this was the best.

The Scouts from Troop Two who went were: Benjamin Robison, Burton Kuntzner, Robert Frazee, Thomas Wood, Leslie Hatch, Robert Hatch, Arlan McCormick, Clifford Wilcott, C. G. Farrow, Francis Read, Stillman Chase, Henry Blanchard Willis Bement.

Francis W. Read, Troop Two.

The famous humorist had partaken too heartily of the feast. Acute indigestion had laid him low. As his friends gathered about him he smiled feebly. "At any rate," he murmured between spasms of pain, "I am able to keep up my reputation as a humorist." His friends were puzzled. "Di-ge-ting!" he gasped.—The Forecaster.

COULDN'T KEEP A SECRET

"You have been a naughty boy, Jimmy," said his mother, "and I shall tell your father."

"Oh, of course," exclaimed Jimmy, "you never can keep a secret."

ANNUAL CHURCH MEETING

ment of pledges except for a few dollars on the part of members who had moved away. He showed the gradual increase of the budget during the past three years made necessary by the high cost of living and submitted a budget for the coming year, which provided for a $300 increase of the pastor's salary. This was adopted without a dissenting vote. As the coming year will bring many responsibilities to the finance committee, Mr. Frazee asked the following gentlemen to serve with him: Messrs. Van Dyke, Andrews, Miner and Sipple.

Mrs. Yarrick gave an interesting report of the social activities of the church which contained a recommendation that the first Wednesday evening in each month be made "Church Night," when members and their families would come together for a supper and social evening and when all the business of the church should be transacted. Her argument was that the membership should participate more largely in the business responsibilities of the church than they had been doing. Blake Franklin warmly indorsed the recommendation and the meeting voted unanimously to adopt it.

A good report by Mr. Abell, treasurer of the church building fund, showed $2754 in cash, paid on subscriptions now on hand.

Blake Franklin reported as chairman of the Music Committee and also for the Board of Trustees, paying a tribute of appreciation to his associates in the choir, particularly to Mr. Beers, who has moved to Eagle Rock to the great regret of his fellow workers in the church.

The pastor's review of his own part in the work of the year was most interesting, and it contained several recommendations which were adopted by the meeting, first, that a series of services similar to those held last year be adopted as a preliminary to the special Easter celebration. A second recommendation that the revision of the membership roll be referred to the deacons of the church with power to act, was also adopted.

Miss Carrie Porter as secretary-treasurer of the Sunday School made a report which showed an enrollment of 217, and average collections of $5.25 with a balance in the treasury of $64.50. She made the significant statement that the record of one Sunday School scholar showed he had been absent but once during the year "and that was our beloved Mr. Adams." The meeting then approved the election of Hartley Shaw as superintendent of the Sunday School.

A report of the work of the young people's society of the church was made by Mrs. Hartley Shaw to whom A. S. Chase as a mother, paid a warm tribute of appreciation.

Mrs. Blake Franklin reported concerning the efficient service rendered by the chairmen of the various committees of the Women's Auxiliary and of the work they had performed, and Mrs. Chapman submitted the financial report of the organization which showed total receipts for the year $436.80, disbursements $386, and balance on hand $50.80.

Mrs. Adams reported the earnings of the food sales' committee and work committee as $272.15.

Mrs. McRae as treasurer of the missionary society reported receipts and expenditures in cash for home and foreign missions and clothing and other valuables sent out by the society.

Mrs. Van Dyke urged greater participation in the work of the missionary society as a vital part of the church activities since it was the work assigned by Jesus to his disciples.

On behalf of the Church Planning Committee the pastor made a report stating that a preliminary sketch of the proposed church had been received by the committee from Architect Arthur G. Lindley, who had been asked to make a tentative plan, and said that as soon as the necessary financial arrangements had been completed details of building plans would be submitted.

Delegates to the annual meeting of the Congregational Church Extension Society were then elected as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Shaw, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. McRae and Mrs. Harry Bullinger.

A request received from officials of the Congregational Memorial Fund which is to be increased to $5,000,000 if possible for the pensioning of retired ministers, asking that the pastor be released for work on

BE OF GOOD CHEER

Let us be of good cheer, remembering that the misfortunes hardest to bear are those which never come. The world has outlived much, and will outlive a great deal more, and men have contrived to be happy in it. It has shown the strength of its constitution in nothing more than in surviving the quack medicines it has tried. In the scales of the destinies brawn will never weigh so much as brain. Our healing is not in the storm or in the whirlwind; it is not in monarchies, or aristocracies, or democracies, but will be revealed by the still, small voice that speaks to the conscience and the heart, prompting us to a wider and wiser humanity.—James Russell Lowell.

NO BACKING OUT

It was truly in a terrible state that little Johnny presented himself at the doorway.

"Why, whatever have you been doing?" exclaimed his mother.

"Couldn't help it," sullenly replied Johnny. "We had a free fight."

"Whatever for?"

"Well, you see, there's seventeen fighting nationalities in our school, and only one remained neutral!"—Answers.

RECOGNITION OF CHARACTER

Among the phenomena of human nature that sometimes strikes us as so strange are the states of mind of those individuals who seem to have no more moral character than so many tomcats, and who seem somehow to regard this lack of the higher nature as something in which to take a certain pride, the argument being that they, at least, are not hypocrites. The assumption, of course, is that those who develop themselves along the line of character are hypocrites, the lower or animal nature thus being assumed as the normal type and deviation from it as contrary to nature and hypocritical.

Yet if anything is certain, it is that every virtue is simply and in its essence a recognition of some factor in our environment. Man, if he is to have a full and useful life, must possess the social virtues, charity, patience, friendliness, kindness, mercy, pity and the others. Our successful and harmonious adjustment in our relations to the nation and to humanity as a whole demand patriotism, altruism, philanthropy, public spirit, broad vision. These virtues go to make up anything like a well rounded character.

However thinkers may differ as to the nature of things or of mind or of ultimate reality, all are agreed, for these reasons, that character is real and important in the scheme of things, and not something laid down by long and sour-faced individuals to keep the world from "having a good time." And it is not a piece of patchwork, but a real growth through recognition of the facts of the material and spiritual environment.

Man like a tree grows most at the top because like the tree he is reaching out for the sunlight of life. Contemporaneous with this growth at the top, is the necessary for growth at the root. No character can live and grow without the great network of roots that we call understanding, and these roots must reach down to the springs of eternal truth, or character will not develop properly. The man who is rooted in this understanding is "like a tree planted by the rivers of water."

Merely thinking virtue or thinking of virtue, is not virtue, but it is one of the laws of thought that we tend to grow into or be like the images that we nourish in our minds, hence a study or contemplation of character helps us to advance our outposts.

WAGES AND PRODUCTION

A shoe manufacturer recently said that the high prices for shoes were not due wholly to the high cost and comparative scarcity of leather. Two other influences have been at work—the great increase in wages and the marked falling off in production. Holland, writing in the Cincinnati Enquirer a few days ago, said:

This manufacturer said that in his own plants, where wages have been advanced to the highest point, the output has been reduced 50 per cent. Wages were increased more than 50 per cent, but the employees who receive this large increase seem to have lost their efficiency or to be indifferent, still seeking higher wages, although they have fallen off so greatly in their work that the output has fallen 50 per cent. Inevitably the cost of shoes to consumers was increased.

Thus both sides of the equation were affected unfavorably to the consumer. Half as many shoes were produced, at wages half as high again as those that were formerly paid. Fifty per cent higher wages brought 50 per cent less return. If there was formerly $2 worth of labor in two pair of shoes there is now $3 worth of labor in one pair. Prices are necessarily affected.

These conditions are by no means confirmed to the shoe industry. There has been a general, and great increase of wages. On the other hand production has fallen off greatly. The best way to lower the cost of production is to increase the volume of products. The more there is produced the higher wages it will be possible to pay, and that, too, without raising prices. But when labor decreases in efficiency and productiveness precisely in proportion to the increase in wages, as in the shoe factories referred to, the buying public must suffer heavily. This condition as has been said, prevails widely. While it lasts it is foolish to look for any drop in prices. All the agencies of production—land, labor (including machinery) and capital—must be fully and intensively employed before there can be any considerable relief. Economic salvation can come only through hard work and the strictest economy. The whole world is clamoring for food, clothing, raw material, fuel and machinery, yet the strength of this nation is being hardly more than half put forth. Surely we may hope that the new year will witness a great change for the better, and a setting down by our people to the business of life.—Long Beach Telegram.

TREE VARIETIES

eties of our shade trees are the best, at least from the point of view of this writer. With some varieties the character of leaf and limb change greatly as they grow older, so that for lawn purposes the tree becomes less desirable, after a certain period. This is probably due very largely to the fact that the young tree is given extra care which is withdrawn as it grows older and the roots fail to find the needed additional sustenance. This does not account, however, for the entire change in the form of the leaf of the blue gum Eucalyptus, which takes place in the second year of its growth.

But, about trees for street planting. The choice of kinds is mostly a matter of individual opinion. Somebody a few years ago advised the planting of the black acacia and people took to it kindly on account of its rapid growth and natural symmetry. It is the kind of tree you can put in the ground and leave to its own devices with assurance of its lusty growth upwards, probably taking a sidewalk with it. If you are thinking of planting them—don't. There are one or two varieties of acacia that are a thing of beauty when they bloom in the spring and are not so bad during the rest of the year, but as a rule they spread too vigorously for street use. The camphor tree is quite a favorite, and when well cared for a row of them, uniform in size and shape, is a feast for the eye, and one by the way that is not often seen. It seems to do its best on light sandy soil and does not care for much water.

The live oak has many friends, as under good care it grows rapidly, but it will not be an entire success until somebody demonstrates just how it should be controlled in its growing habits. The tall lanky specimens that are much in evidence, leave much to be desired in the way of attractiveness. The time will probably come when after considerable experimenting it will be found that by the propagating of more stocky trees and judicious trimming to the proper height from the ground, this tree will be all that is desirable for our streets.

There are some varieties of palm that do very well in a wide parkway and need not encroach too much on the sidewalk space, but the fan palm is not one of them. There is one strong argument in favor of the palm, and that is the fact that is native and typical. The Catalina cherry is being given a trial on some of our streets and while it grows well and has a beautiful evergreen foliage, the fruit that drops from it to the sidewalk, makes it to some extent a nuisance. The carob tree resembles it very much in appearance, and is free from this objection. Then there is the dependable pepper tree, as typical as the palm. When started on a straight course as regards form, not allowing nature to have its way too much, the pepper tree on a wide parkway is all right. Some of the old ones on Glendale streets have a go-as-you-please aspect that should mark them for the wood pile. Then there are deciduous trees, a number of kinds that are fine for street planting, unless you insist upon the evergreens that cast a shade all the year 'round. One of the best of these is the Oriental plane tree (the sycamore which Zaccheus climbed, you remember). And there are people who even think that the cottonwood is worth while.

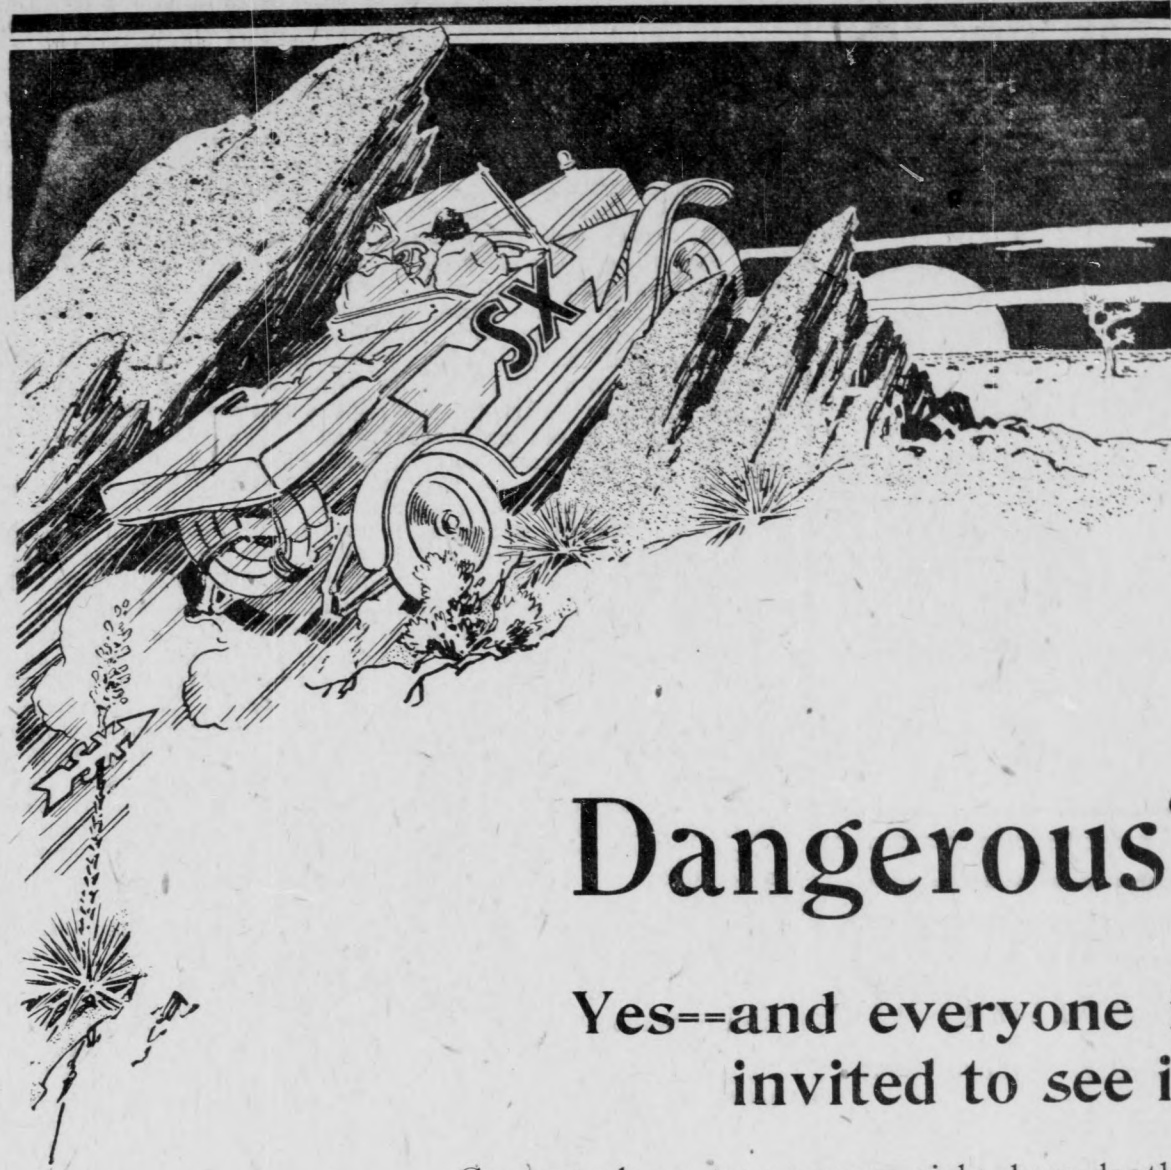

A street lined with Magnolia trees would be a beautiful sight, but the fiend with the pruning saw and hatchet who insists that limbs shall not grow within from six to ten feet of the ground on these row branching trees, ought to be chained up when they are planted. And now that I have dropped back to evergreens again, the bottle tree must have mention; it is really one of our best.

In a general way it might be a good idea to plant deciduous trees on streets running east and west and the evergreens on the north and south streets on account of the shade that is cast in winter time by the evergreens upon ground that would be better for the sunshine. Before we had paved streets it was noticeable that streets shaded from the sun's rays on the south kept muddy for a long time after rains. The selection of the right kinds of trees for street planting is not one bit more important than the proper care of them afterwards. Tree planting days have not generally been a success in the long run because many of the trees planted have been neglected afterwards. The trees planted in the parkways on February 12, however, will have the intelligent and watchful care of a City Forester who understands his business; put them in the ground properly and he can be trusted to do the rest. J. C. Sherer.

USE FOR PREJUDICE

Prejudice must serve some useful purpose since we all have it. Demosthenes valued distrust. When the argument of antecedent probability is shelved for all time there will be no partisans, no nations—only uncared-for cemeteries.

The reason why more of us aren't notable may be seen by separating that word between the third and fourth letters.—Boston Transcript.

"Look here," said the city editor to the cub reporter, "you should write everything as briefly as possible. Instead of saying 'the middle-aged bald-headed performer in the hired aggregation of followers of Orpheus who nightly provide the harmony at one of our leading temples of mirth, seized his trombone firmly in his hands, placed his feverish lips to the mouthpiece and sounded thereon an unearthly tone like the wailing of a lost soul on the main street of Inferno'—now shorten that up."

So the reporter merely wrote: "The slip horn player in the orchestra blew a helva note."

Personals

At 322 Fairview Avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wallace have taken a furnished bungalow for the winter.

Mrs. J. F. Swisher of 130 North Central Avenue left Tuesday for Modesto, Calif., to visit her aged father who is in frail health.

Mrs. C. G. Kinney at Sleepy Hollow entertained Mrs. Thaddeus B. Everhart and Mrs. Geo. E. Cook of Sacramento, New Mexico, over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunham of 950 N. Louise Street have sold their home and are going to Venice to reside with their daughter, Mrs. Kammerling.

Mrs. Wilbur Francy, who has been confined to her home by one of the bronchial colds which have been epidemic, is much better and is now able to be out.

O. T. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Wood and Rev. E. E. Ford have gone to San Bernardino to attend the three-day convention of the Southern California Baptist Association.

Mrs. Joseph Cave of 338 West Harvard is expecting a cousin, Mrs. Robinson, who, she hopes will make her quite a visit. Mrs. Robinson now lives in Fresno, but came to the coast from the East.

Dr. and Mrs. Punton of Kansas City, Mo., who are spending the winter in Los Angeles, were guests on Sunday of Mrs. A. E. Shinner of South Orange Street. The doctor is a nerve specialist.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Grigg of 540 Fairmont Avenue are eagerly looking for the arrival of Mr. Grigg's parents, Walter E. Grigg, Sr., and wife and a sister, Miss Marian Grigg. They will spend the winter here.

Mrs. F. B. Gonzales of 412 North Louise Street is entertaining her niece, Miss Esther Belchon from Crawfordsville, Ind., who will be here for a couple of months. She has visited in Glendale before.

Mrs. H. L. Brown entertained a group of Los Angeles ladies informally at luncheon Wednesday, her guest list including Mesdames Jennie Sturgeon, Lola Waller, Hannah Thuneman and Emma Herzog.

Mrs. Andrew Findlay of 820 S. Central Avenue entertained with a little luncheon the latter part of last week from some Boston friends, Mr. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey and son, who are spending the winter in Pasadena.

Mrs. R. M. McGee, who was confined to her home for quite a time by a severe attack of lumbago, has recovered and is now able to take her accustomed place at the store. Mr. McGee is also much improved in health.

Fred Reed feels very well satisfied with an investment which he made in the advertising columns of the Glendale Evening News because he has sold very satisfactorily a six-room house at 224 South Jackson Street to Mr. Lawrence of the Ford Agency.

Mrs. George P. Reuter of 318 Fairview Avenue, entertained as dinner guests Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Degman of Los Angeles. Mr. Degman, who is the brother-in-law of his hostess, is a member of the law firm of Lawler & Degman.

The John and Herbert Crane families two weeks ago moved to 1347 South San Fernando Road. The house where Mr. and Mrs. John Crane had lived for many years at the corner of Glendale Avenue and Los Feliz Road was sold and they had to seek new quarters.

Mr. and Mrs. Guitard and relatives are hopeful that the big lawsuit in which they are interested involving a large amount of Arizona land, will soon come up for a final decision. In the three courts through which it has been taken their attorneys have won on all points of law.

John Gysin, the sign painter, whose artistic work is seen in all parts of Glendale, has just completed some work for the Blix-Hunt Co. at 310 East Broadway that is particularly fine. The liberal use of gold leaf has made a nice appearing window sign and the green and red used in the Prest-O-Lite battery design are especially appropriate and effective.

D. E. Dietrich of 441 Patterson Avenue is having a substantial house built for him by Contractor W. S. May at 434 Patterson Avenue. It is not a Colonial, but is of the bungalow type, with which we are familiar with overhanging eaves. It is of frame construction, will be painted white and will be divided into six rooms with a cement basement.

Nurserymen are very busy these days with strawberry plants which it is now the season to plant, and which they say should yield a small crop next spring if well cared for during the winter. The Klondyke, Brandywine and Everbearing are recommended, of which the Klondyke is said to be the heaviest bearer. They say it is also a good time to set roses and all kinds of trees and garden truck, including potatoes.

A meeting of patriotic chairmen of the Parent-Teacher Federation of Glendale was held Wednesday afternoon at the Intermediate School over which Mrs. E. B. Moore presided. Mrs. Barton, president of the federation, was present and plans for a federation meeting to be known as "Father's Night" to take place some time in February were considered and other matters which are the special concern of patriotic chairmen.

SUITABLE SCHOOL SITE

Glendale, Cal., Jan. 14, 1920.
Publisher Evening News.

Dear Sir:—
The most logical solution of the High School problem would be to buy the sixteen acres beginning at 601 West Broadway. This property runs from Broadway to Second St., and is as level as a floor without a cross street.

The deep water wells on the property are worth the price asked, $40,000, and with a small cash payment, the owners will take the balance in School bonds, the mountain and valley views from every direction of this tract are the grandest in California, bar none, and can never be obstructed.

Respectfully,
Walter S. Halliwell.

STOPS CRACKS IN CONCRETE

One of the chief causes of cracking in concrete surfaces is the presence of moisture in the surrounding atmosphere, says a large manufacturer. In the warm months this moisture has no detrimental effect, but in winter it collects in the tiny pores of the concrete and freezes.

With its concurrent expansion this exerts a pressure on the surrounding concrete and causes tiny cracks to appear. These cracks in turn fill with moisture and the chipping action continues until spring comes with its higher temperature. This chipping and cracking of the surface of the concrete detracts both from the appearance and strength of the concrete.

A sure way to prevent this destructive action is to coat the concrete surface with a floor dressing paint. This preserves the texture and individuality of the concrete and prevents moisture penetrating the surface. If new concrete floors are covered with two coats of this paint and recoated at intervals of about six months, the concrete surface will remain unscarred and without cracks.

SUGAR-BEET SEED PRODUCTION

Revised estimates of sugar-beet seed produced in the United States in 1919 show a total production of approximately 6,700,000 pounds on a total acreage of 11,100 acres, with an average yield of 600 pounds an acre. Earlier estimates, based on reports of growers, indicated a total production of 7,500,000 pounds. It developed, however, that the average yield per acre in Idaho and Michigan was much smaller than was anticipated by the growers. Considerable acreage in Idaho was reported to be a total failure.

The 1919 production still is 800,000 pounds greater than the total production in 1918, 1,620,000 pounds greater than in 1917 and 1,160,000 pounds greater than in 1916.

HAIL, COLUMBIA!

The Shipping Board in its annual report announces that the American flag has been restored to 51 of the world's great ocean trade routes. Old Glory flies high again over the Seven Seas. Our commerce carriers are plying waters with the Stars and Stripes at the peak, where it has not been seen on commercial vessels for more than a generation.

The government fleet of 1230 vessels, aggregating 6,791,080 tons, shows 236 vessels in the Northern Europe trade, 197 ships in the transatlantic, with 176 ships still in the service of the army in June. In the South American trade are engaged 188 vessels. Sixty ships are making regular trips to Southern Europe, 14 to Africa, 6 to India, 77 in the transpacific, 143 to the West Indies and 44 in the coastwise and New England coal trade. The report discloses that the total gross revenues for the year were approximately $50,000,000 as compared with $80,000,000 for 1918.

Time was when the American flag was seen in every commercial port in the world, where it was honored and respected, and welcomed. And then our merchant marine dwindled, atrophied, vanished, and we hired space in foreign bottoms. But the war changed many things; among others this important national activity received such stimulus as has returned it to the glory and prosperity of other

JUST AT THE TURNING OF THE LANE

By Minnie Leona Upton

Just when you think there can be no turning,
Feet grown leaden, and heart grown slow,
Just when you feel that at last you're learning,
How to go on, though 'twere vain to go,
Just when the hedges, rising higher,
Shut you closer against your pain,
Then—the rapture of heart's desire,
Just at the Turning of the Lane!

Oh, the wonder, and oh, the glory,
Waiting, welcoming, you—just you!
Never so bright was a fairy story,
Never so sweet was a dream come true!
You who have journeyed in weary yearning
The long, straight pathway till hope seems vain,
Lift your heart, for you near the turning—
The marvellous Turning of the Lane!

WHO IS THE PUBLIC?

In a discussion of the report of the President's industrial conference, William L. Hutchinson, president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, made some suggestions that may be worth considering, and raised one very interesting question. He said:

In order to be a success the national industrial tribunal should consist of representatives of employers and labor only. Who, may I ask, is the public. The public consists of employers and employees, and when you have these classes what other class is there? Every one is either employed by some one or is in business and employs some other.

That is broadly true, and the principle would apply in case there should be a dispute involving all the employers and all the employees of the country. But the controversies that would come before the tribunals are not of this sort. The coal strike, for instance, involved interests far transcending those of the parties to the quarrel. Those paramount interests were the interests of the public. And the public was made up of every man, woman and child—employer or employee—who was neither miner nor operator. It is always so. The public is never a party to a strike, but it is always a victim. On arbitration tribunals it ought to have a representative, whether that representative be an employee or an employer. There is never any difficulty in identifying the public when its interests are sacrificed in order to keep the peace between employer and employee. What many men fear today—and with a reason—is that there may be such a combination between employer and employee as would leave the public practically helpless. By all means the public should have representation.—Long Beach Telegram.

TO FILM SERMON ON THE MOUNT

One of the greatest spectacles of The Pageant of the Bible, now in process of filming by The Historical Film Corporation of America, will be "The Sermon on the Mount."

It has been said of Jesus that "the common people heard Him gladly," and one may easily see in the Sermon on the Mount an address to a gathering of the common people—the kind of people that Lincoln loved and the class from which he sprang.

It is amazing that more has not been made of this tremendous occasion, so fraught with consequences to the human race, for, to the mind that thinks in pictures, it was one of the most dramatic in the world's history. In introducing his report of the event Matthew says:

"And there followed Him great multitudes of people from Galilee, and from Decapolis, and from Jerusalem, and from Judea, and from beyond Jordan."—Matt. 4:25.

What a picture! The hot, weary, dusty, heart-hungry people wending their way from all parts of the country to hear the words of truth fall from the lips of the man of Galilee—to most of them a Prophet—to some only "the carpenter's son."

The mind that thinks in pictures sees the various groups coming from far and near, over mountains and desert and across the turgid flood of Jordan—the Pharisee, the publican, the scribe, the Arab, the Assyrian, the Persian, the Egyptian, Roman idlers from Capernaum and Jericho, Roman soldiers to police the mob, Greeks, Alexandrian Jews, men from the islands of the sea, from the deserts and from the far, far east.

It is hot and there is much dust and confusion, complaint and calling to each other as the vast multitude struggles for places of vantage. Children are there, and sucking babes, and the very old and many infirm, maimed, halt, blind and impotent. Aching hearts, too, are there, and the oppressed and the poor, and those heavy laden with grief, the weak sinner and the hardened criminal, the simple and the possessed of devils, but all of them, whether they come to worship or to mock, see only one thing—The Prophet.

There, slightly above the multitude and surrounded by His disciples, He sits upon a rock, Himself the Rock of Ages, in the midst of a sea of hoping, fearing, afflicted humanity. He raises His hand, like magic the multitude stills and settles. He speaks, and the clear music of His voice soothes them like a mother's lullaby. The leper forgets his pain, the Magdalene her shame, the Pharisee his intolerance, the Roman his pride, the sinner his sins. The restless child coos and turns to slumber, and the spirit of peace brooding over the holy place for a brief space hides the troubled world under his feathers.

All too soon He ceases and the multitude—not one soul as he was before that wondrous sermon—melts away, each to his own place.

In all history no picture like this, a world benediction, the wisdom of the ages packed into an hour. Such scenes as this will The Pageant of the Bible make immortal in living pictures.

Y. W. C. A. UNIFORM GIVES WORKER RIDE

Miss Constance Clark of Alhambra, Cal., acting executive of the American Y. W. C. A. in France, was in London last month, in uniform, of course. She stopped at a certain corner to take a street car, along with a large group of people also waiting for the same car. A crowded car came along and made no signs of stopping, when suddenly the conductor "rang up" and stopped the car directly in front of her, asking her to get on, which she did. Then she inquired why the conductor had singled her out.

"Because you were so good to my girl in France," he replied.

"She was a W. A. A. C. (Queen Mary's Auxiliary Army Corps.) You Y. W. C. A. women were so nice to her. She has talked a lot about the Blue Triangle hut, the only bit of home she had over there."

Miss Clark did not tell how the Britishers left standing on the corner felt when she was invited to ride.

COST MORE THAN FEATURES

The Pageant of the Bible, now in process of filming by The Historical Film Corporation of America, will cost more per foot than any motion picture ever made. The exhibition units which are to consist of at least two reels, according to present plans, will cost more than the ordinary feature picture. One reason for the greater cost of the Bible pictures is that all props must be made to order from special designs and the greater number of extras that must be employed. In scenes, for instance, like the Fall of Jericho, The Crossing of the Red Sea, The Feeding of the Five Thousand, The Crucifixion, etc., thousands of extra people must be used and extras run into money quickly.

"A NEW DAY FOR THE RAILROADS"

We believe that the railroads are on the eve of great expansion. With the increasing growth of population and the immensity of commerce, the people will demand and will get for the railroad corporations the cash they must have. The people have not lost faith in the railroads; on the contrary, their attitude toward the disadvantages under which the railroads are laboring because of government control is one of the evidences of their desire that they would have the entire system back to its normal state, that is, as private lines, so there might be less restricted opportunity for development. This will come. It can be advantageously carried out only by the companies themselves, without undue interference by government authority.

We are not so unreasonable as to expect that the government will release its hold entirely on the railroads, for we believe, as do the railroads themselves, in a wise supervision, since it is protective of the stockholders' interests as well as of the employees' welfare. The chaos of the last fifteen years should never again be permitted to cast its pall upon those wonderful institutions.—New York Commercial.
